Booze, Football, HUD Mark Plano in 1977

By CORDELIA COTTINGIM

Beer and wine, football and low-income housing were among the local headlines grabbing the attention of Planoites and stirring talk on the streets and over the dinner table during 1977.

The listing here of top local news stories is not meant to impart significance or rank but to simply provide some order to the kaleidoscope of issues and interests Planoites voted on, cheered, cursed, laughed at or only read about during 1977.

Plano residents were expected to be able to buy beer and wine here in 1977 for the first time since the turn of the century. In October, voters approved the beer and wine sales for off-premise consumption but city officials exercised their 60-day moratorium privilege to investigate ways to limit the sales.

Legal advice to the city was that they had little discretion in either broadening or limiting sales because the city ordinance must be patterned after state law. Applications for beverage sales permits now are being processed and Planoites will now be able to purchase their New Year's spirits in Plano.

"Firsts" were in store for the Plano Wildcat football team in 1977. The 'Cats cinched the Texas AAAA football championship Dec. 17 with a 13-10 win in the finals competition over the Port Neches-Groves Indians from near Beaumont.

This was the first AAAA championship for the Wildcats and the first time a team had won the top state title in AA, AAA and AAAA classes.

The Wildcats were not the only topic of football conversation in Collin County, however. The nearby Wylie Pirates earned the AA state championship title in 1977 with a finals defeat of Bellville.

When plans for a low-income apartment complex were announced this fall, most of east Plano quickly organized to keep the project off the northwest corner of Park Boulevard and Avenue N. Legal restrictions have kept elected officials from taking any action against the project.

But attorneys for both the city and school district are pursuing the matter and local residents have petitioned federal officials to intervene with the Department of Housing and Urban Development which authorized the housing development.

Other items tagged for their special newsworthiness include:

—Voter approval of the $38.5 million school bond election for construction of eight new schools, purchase of 11 school sites and some renovation and expansion;

—The start of construction of four-lane FM 544 from Westwood Drive to Coit Road. The work has snarled traffic but promises future ease of traffic flow.

—Adoption by the Collin County Commissioners Court of the unitary system for building and maintenance of roads and bridges. The system requires precinct decisions be made by the entire court rather than by the individual commissioners.

—Three members each were elected to the Plano City Council and School Board in April. Elected to the council were Jack Hatchell, Louise Sherrill and Jack Harvard. Winners in the School Board races were Mary Beth Applewhite, Rutledge Haggard and Tom Hughston.

—Plano and Collin County officials passed ordinances in 1977 to regulate the operation of massage parlors but the masseuses are fighting back at least against the new county edict.

Both ordinances prohibit treatment of persons of the opposite sex. The Body Shoppe Massage Parlor and April's Massage and two employees have filed suit alleging the county ordinance is discriminatory.

—Cinnamon Tree Apartments at 14th Street and Rigsbee was the scene of dramatic police action Dec. 7 when Ronny Tarrant armed and barricaded himself inside his wife's apartment and held police at bay for five hours.

Nearby neighbors were evacuated and police used tear gas to roust Tarrant from the apartment after he had shot into a patrol car. He was charged with aggravated assault and criminal mischief.

—Gary Gregory Lawley was acquitted Nov. 4 in the 1976 shooting death of fellow high school student Kym Williams. A jury ruled Lawley innocent by reason of self-defense.

Cargo Arrives Just in Time For New Year

It looked as if Plano had become the brewery of the Southwest yesterday as beer and wine distributors poured into the city delivering their goods to newly-licensed retail outlets. Roger Ritchie of Plano (above), draught district manager for Budweiser, was on hand to help stock the shelves of several of the almost 30 stores which have received or are about to receive their beer and wine licenses from the state. The beverages were put on sale almost three months after the city's local option election on Oct. 8. Voters here approved the legal sale of beer and wine for off-premise consumption by a 5,791 to 4,464 margin. Following a 60-day moratorium placed on sales by the City Council, the retail outlets have finally cut through local and state red tape to obtain their licenses. (Staff photos by Mike Newman).

Carter Interpreter Hurls Polish Insults

By HELEN THOMAS

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — President Carter brought greetings of goodwill and friendship to Poland but many Poles were insulted and angry Friday because of a mistranslation of his airport arrival speech.

A major diplomatic flap brewed over the mistranslation, in which many Poles thought the President had made vulgar and insulting remarks to them upon his arrival, in what otherwise was a cordial greeting between Carter and Polish Communist Party leader Edward Gierek and a warm welcome from hundreds of banner-carrying Poles.

In his prepared remarks in English, Carter told the Poles, "I have come ... to learn your opinions and understand your desires for the future." The U.S. interpreter translated the remarks to say, "I desire the Poles carnally."

In a reference to his departure from Washington, the translation came out, "when I left the United States never to return..."

Another mistranslation had Carter telling his hosts that the Polish constitution was a subject of ridicule. In English, Carter cited the Polish constitution of May 3, 1791 as one of three great documents in the historic struggle for human rights.

Press Secretary Jody Powell acknowledged the errors in translation and said the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw had been asked to make a careful study of the translation to determine how serious the mistakes had been.

Carter's schedule today, his first full day on his nine-day, 18,000-mile goodwill trip, called for wreath-laying ceremonies at the tomb of Poland's Unknown Soldier, a visit to the Warsaw Ghetto monument, important talks with Polish leaders, a full-scale news conference and a state dinner.

Carter arrived late Thursday on a cold and blustery night, to a warm welcome from the Poles, most of whom look upon closer ties with America as a counterbalance to Soviet influence.

Three honor guards of 36 men each, representing the army, navy and air force, shouted "Long Live the President!" as Carter descended Air Force One for the arrival ceremonies.

A crowd of about 500 Poles waited in the cold, snow-filled night air to greet the president. Many carried banners. One group of young persons unfurled a large sign which said: "We count on you, America. Don't Let Us Down."

"I am proud to begin this journey in Poland, friend of the United States since the time our nation was founded," Carter said in his remarks in Engish. "Poland is the ancestral home of more than 6 million Americans, partner in a common effort against war and deprivation."

Defensive Driving Set At YMCA

The Plano YMCA will offer a defensive driving course taught by the National Safety Council in two four-hour sessions Jan. 14 and 21 from 1:30-5:30 p.m.

To be taught at the YMCA, 2601 Glencliff Dr., the course will qualify participants for a 10 percent reduction in automobile insurance costs. According to the National Safety Council, the course also reduces accident probability by an average 32.8 percent.

Cost of the course is $10 per person. Registration for the limited enrollment course is now underway at the YMCA.

AA Offers New Year's Alternative

IRVING, Texas (UPI) — For those who don't want to drink to celebrate the New Year's weekend, a local chapter of Alcoholics Anonymous is offering an alternative.

The Irving AA chapter is sponsoring an "Alcothon" for the New Year's weekend. One local member called it an informal party for both drinkers and non-drinkers.

"It's a place where somebody who doesn't like to be around drunks can come," he said. "The whole family participates. Sometimes there are more non-alcoholics than alcoholics because of the families."

Activities will begin at 2 p.m. Saturday with an informal meeting, followed by a pot-luck dinner, dancing and the traditional black-eyed pea supper at midnight. Football fans can watch the New Year's Day games on television.

Amusements Park Breaks Record

For the first time in its history, Six Flags Over Texas has entertained more than 2.5 million visitors in a single season.

Final 1977 attendance figures show that 2,549,991 guests visited the theme park, which ended its 17th season in late November. The new total exceeds the 1976 record by more than 120,000.

Citing one reason for the successful season, the park's General Manager Dan Howells said, "We are particularly pleased with the number of persons spending more than one day in the park." He explained that visitors' two day trips to the park have contributed significantly to the overall rise in attendance.

Looking tward next year, Howells said, "Work has already begun to prepare the park for the 1978 season. Construction is underway on what will be the most spectacular ride in the history of Six Flags."

The Shock Wave, the new thrill ride, was described by Howells as the "world's tallest, longest and fastest, double-loop roller coaster."

The coaster's cars will whisk passengers up a 116-foot lift, then suddenly nose-dive down a sharp incline and sweep through two, 70-foot-tall, vertical loops, turning riders completely upside-down.

The new coaster will travel at speeds up to 60 m.p.h.

Although the Shock Wave will be the most spectacular addition to the theme park for '78, other capital improvements are underway. Every building and ride is being refurbished during the winter. Preparations are being made for the new shows in the park's numerous theaters, and name entertainers for the Music Mill Theater are being booked.

Since the park first opened in 1961, more than 31,760,000 guests from throughout the world have passed through the turnstiles.

"We feel that the continual rise in attendance at Six Flags over the past few years reflects the healthy state of Texas tourist industry," Howells said. "Our research indicates that the addition of the Shock Wave will further stimulate the growth of tourism in the region."

With the announcement from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development that a 144-unit low-income housing project would be built in Plano, hundreds of local citizens banded together in an attempt to block the project. Plano Area Concerned Citizens went before the Plano City Council to ask that the land slated for the development be rezoned away from its apartment designation. The City Council, however, on the advice of legal counsel, refused to rezone the property, located at Avenue N and Park Boulevard. Although HUD has threatened a lawsuit if the city attempts to block the low-income housing, many groups in the city—including the Plano Independent School District—are still seeking a way out. # Insurance Money Due to Veterans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's 4.1 million veterans holding GI life insurance policies will receive a 10 percent increase in dividends in 1976, the government announced.

Higher dividends are the result of the funds earning higher interest — which is passed on to the policy holder.

The government will pay $445.6 million in dividends next year, a $42.2 million increase over this year's level, Veterans Administrator Max Cleland said Thursday.

Payments will be made throughout the year on the anniversary dates of individuals policies kept in force from World War I, World War II and the Korean War, Cleland said.

According to VA statistics, nearly 107,000 veterans from World War I, 3.5 million veterans of World War II and 550,000 Korean veterans are collecting dividends.

YOU and YOUR FAMILY

By Dr. James L. Greenstone

CLINICAL MEMBER OF AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF MARRIAGE AND FAMILY COUNSELORS

DEAR DR. GREENSTONE, How do you handle a child who says he wants to run away from home? At these times, he also accuses me of not loving him.

DEAR READER, How do you handle such situations? Very carefully! They most likely occur during times of stress and tension between you and your child, and, as such, carry with them some precarious pitfalls. These await your one unguarded moment. The child who resorts to such manipulation as threats of running away, or as accusations about your lack of love is looking for your points of personal vulnerability. If he finds them, he can then avoid dealing with the real issues at hand, i.e., your reprimand of him, or his responsibility for his own behavior. Often such ploys are used for this purpose, and if successful, may leave the child scared, and the parent guilty.

The child's fears result from at least two items: One, he has successfully manipulated that person or persons in his life who should be guiding him. He has become the "guide" in a world in which he knows that he is not yet qualified to guide. Two, he may see by the entrapment of his parents, that they do not hear nor do they understand what he is feeling. We often respond to what is said rather than to what is felt. Inadvertently, we may be saying by our actions, that we "don't care."

The way we resolve such dilemma depends somewhat on the age of the child. Basically, however, your response to your child's feelings rather that to this words or threats will achieve more positive results. Do not let the threat of running away detract from that which you are discussing with your child. Do not fall for the "con", but recognize his right to discuss the subject at a later time. "I know that you are upset with me, but right now we are not talking about you leaving home. We are talking about you coming in so late. If you want to talk about leaving home, we can do that tomorrow at 6:00. Now, help me to understand what you are feeling about what we are talking about."

To the child who wants to pursue the idea of leaving home, again tune-in to what you sense he is feeling. Let him know that you are trying to understand his feelings. Let him know also how important he is to the family, and how much he will be missed if he goes. If he does leave and then returns, welcome him, and let him know how good it is to have him back home. Continue to deal realistically and openly with points of contention, but do not confuse disagreement with your feelings about your child. Disagreement and closeness are not incompatible, as long as there is also caring and understanding.

Regarding accusations of not loving your child, the same basics apply. Confine your disagreements and discussions to the matter at hand, and do not let such insertions change the subject. "Right now we are not talking about love. We are talking about picking up your clothes and putting them away. If you want to talk about love, we can set up a time to do that. Right now, pick up your socks!"

Furniture Rental Becoming Booming Business Venture

NEW YORK (UPI) — The growing mobility of American society is creating a huge new business in rented furniture for homes.

Volume is believed to be running about $200 million a year currently, tripling the total five years ago, and it could hit $1 billion annually by the early 1980s, according to Walker Treece, chairman of GranTree Furniture Rental Corp. of Portland, Ore., a leader in the field.

Few Americans realize how transient the populace is in some parts of the country. A pastor in Costa Mesa, Calif., put it succinctly not long ago when he said he now ministers to a procession instead of a congregation.

Studies indicate 42.5 percent of the U.S. population changed residence in 1974, compared with 20 percent just five years earlier. A median profile indicated those who moved were young, well educated, held high status occupations with above average incomes, and tended to be socially active.

People move around for an enormous variety of reasons and many move too fast to lug furniture with them, Treece told United Press International. They want "instant living," and don't want to to buy furniture until they are in a position to select a permanent home.

"Some move either to destroy the past or to move up to a new environment they perceive as offering a better chance of success. Many relocate for economic reasons or to achieve social and personal growth," he said.

The furniture rental business also is spurred by changing lifestyles: the large number of couples that share a home without being married. the growing number of singles of the same sex who share a domicile, and the increasing number of divorced persons setting up new homes.

Treece said there probably are not more than 20 companies engaged in the business on any significant scale as yet although many furniture stores have tried rentals from time to time, only to find them not profitable.

The first furniture rental companies rented to theaters and movie producers for stage sets, a restricted business. But Treece said one Boston firm has been renting furniture for private homes for at least 20 years. The real growth of the business though, he said, has been in the past half dozen years because the mobility of society and the changes in lifestyles have accelerated so much in that time.

The furniture rental fees are not cheap. In general, GranTree charges fees that will recover the wholesale cost of new furniture in 10 months. The wholesale cost is roughly half what it would cost to buy the same furniture outright at retail.

New Booklet Available To Spanish-Americans

Community leaders working with Spanish-speaking consumers will want to send for "Informacion para el Consumidor". It's a new edition of the federal government's catalog of consumer publications in Spanish. And it's free.

The catalog lists 100 publications on consumer topics ranging from housing and cars to nutrition and naturalization requirements. And most of these are free.

"Informacion para el Consumidor" is published annually by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration. If you would like free copies of the Spanish catalog, write to Consumidor, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Here are some highlights from publications listed in the catalog: "Las seguridad del hogar empieza en su puerta" (Home Security Starts at Your Door) Free. 162S. 6pps. 1977. How to prevent break-ins through proper construction of doors, frames, and through selection of effective locks.

"Medicaid-Medicare: cual es cual?" (Medicaid-Medicare: Which is Which?) Free. 169S. 29pps. 1976. Explains the difference between these federal health care plans.

"Ley sobre el derecho de igualidad de credito" (Equal Credit Opportunity Act) Free. 165S. 4pps. 1977. Your right to credit, and what to do if you've been denied credit because of your sex, marital status, race, color, religion, national origin or age.

"La atencion y servicio del automovil" (Car Care and Service) Free. 178S. 16pps. 1977. How to recognize the symptoms of common automotive problems; tips on working with your mechanic.

"Garantias" (Warranties) Free. 164S. 7pps. 1977. Types of warranties required by law; how to use them for comparison shopping; what to do if you have a problem with a product under warranty.

The Consumer Information Center also distributes an English language listing of consumer publications, the Consumer Information Catalog. Published quarterly, the Catalog is available free from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Wife Signs Checks For Fake Priest

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — There was a flaw in his story, but none of the bank tellers who cashed phony money orders for a man posing as a priest noticed it.

Police said the man, in just four hours Thursday, cashed several counterfeit American Express money orders at banks in Yukon, Bethany, Warr Acres and Oklahoma City.

He was dressed in a priest's robe with a white collar and identified himself as a Catholic priest.

The counterfeit money orders were on good quality paper and were difficult to recognize as phony, police said.

However, none of the tellers questioned the "Catholic priest" when he told them his wife signed the money orders.

Pascal Edges Plano, 46-42

Traditional basketball powerhouse Fort Worth Pascal won the boys championship bracket of the Second Annual Plano Invitational Tournament with a 46-42 effort over Plano at the Senior High Activities Building Thursday night.

Pascal and Plano battled on even terms for most of the game. Pascal took an 11-4 edge in the first quarter by taking advantage of cold Plano shooting, but they never dominated beyond that point.

It wasn't as if Plano didn't have their chances to win. They had several opportunities but the cards wouldn't fall right. In the cold first quarter, Plano had several open shots but the basketball refused to go through the hoop. Plano had only one field goal in that initial period.

Plano's defense enabled them to tie the game up with less than two minutes remaining. Guard Bill McKinney hauled down a rebound and took a second shot to knot the game at 40-40.

Then, for the first time in the game, Plano held the lead at 42-40 when Plano's pressure defense netted a breakaway for guard Richard Campbell. But, Pascal's Mark Smith retaliated to tie the game up at 42-42.

With 50 seconds remaining, Plano's game plan was to stall and shoot for the winning field goal. But, the plan failed when the officials called for a jump ball after pointman Campbell couldn't pass the ball.

Pascal's superior heighth netted them the tip-off and Smith again scored to put Pascal in front 44-42. Plano's opportunity to tie the game up ended with a bad shot which Pascal rebounded, McKinney was forced to foul Pascal's Mark Cooper with five seconds in a desperation attempt.

Cooper hit both freethrow shots for Pascal's final winning score of 46-42.

It was a valiant come from behind effort for Plano. They trailed 23-15 at halftime and Pascal's tough defense was making it tough to stage a rally. Plano was forced to take patient shots because Pascal had the definite rebounding edge with their superior heighth.

Plano pulled to 35-30 at the conclusion of the fourth quarter and caused three back to back turnovers and converted to take their brief lead at 42-40 late in the game.

McKinney was Plano's leading player. Plano couldn't find a hot hand in the first quarter, but in the second quarter emerged McKinney. He continued to pace rebounding and shooting in the second half with 12 points; 18 points overall.

Postman Flip Redden, who was named to the all-tournament team for the second consecutive year, scored nine points followed by Campbell with seven points, guard Dane Herbel with four points plus Chris Sabonis and Jamie Oakry with two points each.

Plano's loss puts their season mark at 9-10.

Pascal, Lake Highlands Claim Tourney Titles

Fort Worth Pascal and Richardson Lake Highlands claimed respective boys and girls crowns Thursday night in the finals of the Second Annual Plano Invitational Basketball Tournament.

Pascal topped Plano in the boys championship finals, 46-42, for the top prize. Lake Highlands beat Mesquite, 68-48, for the girls bracket championship.

Third place winner was Plano in the girls bracket. The Wildcats, last year's champions, beat Richardson Pearce for the third place title, 62-42. Hurst L.D. Bell took third place in the boys bracket by beating Fort Worth Southwest, 77-65.

Girls bracket consolation honors went to Arlington Sam Houston with a 36-35 win over Arlington Bowie. Grand Prairie, defending boys champions, took the consolation honors in their bracket with a 50-47 win over South Garland.

Eight teams competed in both boys and girls brackets in the tournament.

All-tournament selections were announced immediately following the Plano-Pascal championship game.

Named on the girls team were: Forwards - Jan Haefner of Richardson Lake Highlands, Tammy Harris of Mesquite and Jeanean Dalby of Arlington Sam Houston.

Guards - Carolyn Markham of Richardson Lake Highlands, Dee Rutland of Arlington Bowie and Tammy Littrell of Plano.

Named to the boys all-tournament team were: Doug Crawford of Fort Worth Southwest, David Henson of Grand Prairie, Curtis Calloway of L.D. Bell, Gregg Shropshire of Fort Worth Pascal and Flip Redden of Plano. Redden was also named to the all-tournament team in 1976.

Wildcat Girls Finish Third

Plano's girls basketball team bounced to a 62-42 thrashing of Richardson's J.J. Pearce Thursday night to finish third in the Plano Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The Wildcats, defending tournament champions, took a quick 22-10 lead in the first quarter and continued to pile up the points throughout the game.

Deedra House led the explosive Wildcat offense with 24 points. She was followed by Laurie Van Sice with 21 points, Melissa Bland with 13 points, Tracy York and Mary Jo Vanderlinen with two points and Laurie McDaniel with one point.

Plano's lead was as high as 25 points in the first half and 29 points in the fourth quarter before Coach Rita Barnes pulled the starters from the game. Pearce then reeled off ten quick points.

Tammy Littrell, Lorrie Marsh and Janell Moore did outstanding jobs defensively in keeping the Mustangs off the boards. Littrell pulled down 13 rebounds, while Marsh and Moore combined for six rebounds.

Plano committed 19 fouls to 22 for Pearce. The Cats got 13 points while the Mustangs were limited to 12 points in charity tosses.

In losing to Mesquite Wednesday night the Planoites started off slow then began to gain back some of the ground they lost in the first half, later in the game. Thursday nights game was completely opposite of the Mesquite game, but, Plano was in complete control against Pearce.

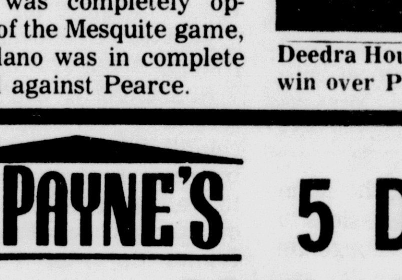
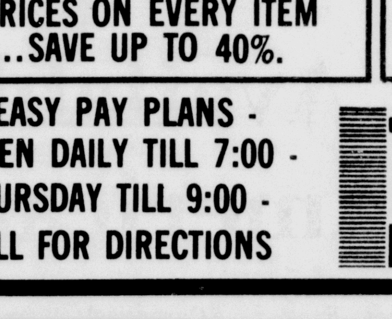
The time you give to yourself can be the most important time to your child.



Sometimes you stay so busy taking care of your child's needs that you overlook your own. That's why you should know about "Mother's Day Out" at National Child Care. National gives you time—something there's usually too little of. And time means a chance to get back in touch with yourself. And since you can give him more of yourself when there's more to give, you're enriching both of you.

When you give him National Child Care, you're opening the world of Discovery before him. National's Discovery programs have been designed to challenge your child's imagination and stimulate his love of learning. Through group play and educational activities he'll discover friendship and sharing. And, most importantly, develop a positive self-concept, one of the most precious gifts you can give him.



So, bring your child to National Child Care. "Mother's Day Out" drop-in service is available, as well as full-time enrollment programs. Whether it's a half-day, a full day, or every day at National, your child will make discoveries he'll carry the rest of his life. And while he's busy discovering his own world, you can take the time to rediscover yours.

Ink on shower curtain

By Polly Cramer

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I got ballpoint ink on my expensive plastic shower curtain and tried holding a sponge with bleach on it for several minutes and also tried hair spray but with no luck. Hope you can help me.

When wallpapering use a slotted spoon to mix the paste and there will be no lumps. This paste can also be applied with a paint roller for an easier job.

Also, I use a grapefruit knife when cutting out the inside of green peppers and to remove seeds from watermelon. — MRS. F.L.P.

DEAR MRS. F.L.P. — I am surprised that the hair spray did not work. Did you lay the curtain flat and apply the spray, let dry and then wash curtain as usual? — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — Long ago I cleaned a cotton print dress that had spilled ink all the way down the front. I put the dress in a large earthenware mixing bowl, covered it with buttermilk and let it stand overnight. This removed every spot of ink and did not harm the print. — AMY.

DEAR POLLY — Try aluminum foil for removing rust spots from your chrome chairs and car bumpers. Roll foil up into a ball, dampen with water and rub the rust off.

I make a dust pan by cutting an aluminum foil pie plate in half. It can be bent to any shape and is great for hard-to-get areas.— C.H.D.

DEAR POLLY — The little self-stick oblongs made to hold pictures to the wall are so efficient used on the underside of the end of a lady's patent or other stiff belt. Stick in place each time the belt is worn and after it has been buckled. This keeps the end with the holes firmly in place at the waist and eliminates having to cut off any excess length that might be needed if one's waist expands a bit. — BARBARA.

DEAR POLLY — After cutting up raw chickens on my cutting board I clean the board by sprinkling table salt on it and then scrubbing with a plastic pot scrubber. I rinse it with very hot water and dry well. This eliminates worry about germs from raw chickens and also removes stains from the board that were left from carving cooked roasts, etc. on it. — MRS. C.C.

DEAR POLLY — Those who do not care to eat the skin on baked sweet or Irish potatoes might like to know that after the potatoes are baked if they are allowed to stay in the oven awhile after it has been turned off the skins come off with no difficulty. I find the right length of time is just about the same time as it takes me to round up the meat and vegetables. — HELEN.

Polly will send you one of her signed thank-you newspaper coupon clippers if she uses your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write POLLY'S POINTERS in care of this newspaper.

ASTRO·GRAPH

Bernice Bede Osol

For Saturday, Dec. 31

Your Birthday

Dec. 31,1977

Associate with progressive people who are in the forefront of innovative programs this coming year. Benefits that are not initially apparent will follow.

CAPRICORN (Dec.22-Jan.19) Intuition should not govern your actions today. Use sound, logical reasoning as a guide because your hunches could really lead you astray. Find out who you're romantically suited to by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb.19) Hastily assembled joint ventures with friends are ill-fated today, especially if either of you have to advance money. Put them on the back burner for now.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't overanalyze your motives or methods today, or you'll wind up on dead center. A questioning mind is fine, but not when it leads only to inertia.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Variety is the keynote to pleasant associations for you today. Choose some fresh new faces to do your socializing with.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You might encounter a stranger this evening who has a thousand ways to make a lot of money. Chances are 100 to 1 your financial wizard's a phony.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be very careful tonight that you and your mate don't air any domestic problems in public. You'll lose face as well as spoiling the fun of others.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Watch your talkative tendencies today. Take care not to dwell at length on subjects that are interesting only to you and boring to others.

LEO (July 23-Aug.22) Although you may not spend any big money today, the little outlays will add up faster than you expect. Nickels and dimes make dollars.

VIRGO (Aug.23-Sept.22) If you're out to enjoy yourself tonight, forget the house once you've closed the door. Don't worry about whether you left a window open.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct.23) Today you have an unfortunate tendency to tell tales out of school or pass on hearsay information. You know better.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Try to even things out tonight so you don't wind up picking up the whole tab. You're in a generous mood, but your companions may not be.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov.23-Dec.21) What you say lightly about someone in the spotlight may come out as something entirely different to your listeners. They could feel you are envious.

Outline for the New Year

As the New Year draws near many people will be making lists of resolutions that run something like this—

1. Stop smoking.
2. Spend more time with the kids.
3. Attend church.

Such resolutions are viewed as a denial or punishment and, for this reason, are rarely kept. However, if the New Year were approached with an outline like the one that follows, the results might be different—

- I Serve God More Fully
  - A. Give more time to the church.
  - B. Serve as a hospital volunteer.
- II Enjoy a Sound Body
  - A. Give up smoking.
  - B. Eat more sensibly.
- III Live More Joyfully
  - A. Get to know the children better.
  - B. Pursue an interesting hobby.

In this way resolutions can be placed in a broader perspective. They become more than short-term goals to be abandoned at the first opportunity. They become part of a total life plan. Have a Happy New Year.
